Circular No. 2128—495, dated 14—20*th September* 1910.

To—The Heads of Offices and Departments, and Deputy Commissioner, Treasury Department.

The contingent bills (including in that term, bills for contingencies proper, supplies and services) received in this office for preaudit are of two kinds :—

(i) Bills drawn in the prescribed contingent bill form by a Government officer.

(ii) Bills or invoices of a firm or private party, countersigned by a Government officer.

The preaudit stamp now affixed to both these kinds of bills shows the Treasury at which the bill is payable, and the amount for which the bill is passed. While the amounts of preaudited bills of the first kind are always drawn by the Government officers, those of the second kind are, in some cases, drawn by the Government officer countersigning the bill, and in others by the private party or firm to whom the amount of the bill is due. As it is desirable that the Treasury should, when paying a preaudited bill to a person other than a Government officer drawing or countersigning the bill, have express instructions to do so, this office will, whenever a bill is required to be paid to a private firm or party, make the amount of the bill payable to the firm or party, the words "in favor of....." being inserted after "Rupees ...." in the preaudit stamp.

Heads of Offices and Departments are, therefore, requested to note a separate requisition over a separate signature on the bill, whenever a bill is required to be paid to a private individual or firm. In the absence of such a requisition, the amount of the bill will be made payable to the officer countersigning the bill.

The Treasuries will pay bills, made payable to private parties or Government officers, only on the contents thereof being receipted by them and the bills stamped, where necessary.

These instructions will be given effect to from 1st October 1910, i.e., they will apply to bills preaudited from that date.

J. S. CHAKRAVARTI,
Comptroller.
